MANIFESTO FOR A RESOURCE-EFFICIENT EUROPE

In a world with growing pressures on resources and the environment, the EU has no choice but to go for a transition to a resource-efficient and ultimately regenerative circular economy. Our future jobs depend on our ability to get more added value from the resources we have. Our future value depends on our ability to get more added value from the resources we have. Our future value depends on our ability to get more added value from the resources we have.

According to the OECD, this could lead to steady economic growth with business opportunities across the economy.
