ACT – Dreams do not come true unless we take action. Cities play a key role in shaping a more sustainable and inclusive Europe. Cities are ever-changing, diverse and complex political, ecological and social ecosystems. They host a myriad of actors ranging from universities, research institutions, companies, start-ups and creative industry operators, which contribute to the development of next generation solutions. Leading a complex ecosystem towards common goals requires an ability to make the most of the diversity, the capacities, and the networks. It also requires an ability to co-create a culture of trust. In this session we invite cities to share their solutions and challenges for the co-creation of a sustainable city.

LEAD TOGETHER – Climate change is the biggest challenge of our lifetime. The European Union is committed to climate neutrality by 2050 and the cities are essential allies in reaching this goal. The leadership of cities in finding new solutions to reduce GHG emissions and inspiring communities, companies, R&D actors to cooperate for the same goal is key to achieving the targets set in European Green Deal. Many cities around the continent have committed to climate neutrality by 2030 and in this session the focus is on the solutions and challenges on the road to climate neutrality in cities and on the dialogue between the European Commission and the cities.
